

Privacy Policy

Beyt Mar Maroun places fundamental importance on respecting privacy, maintaining discretion, and safeguarding the dignity of the individuals it serves, its volunteers, and visitors to its website. It is a place of welcome and listening where trust, discretion, and respect for each person are essential.

1. Principle of Confidentiality

Any information shared within the context of listening, accompaniment, or contact with the association is treated with the utmost discretion.

All personal communications received are respected and protected.

2. Data Collected

We may collect certain personal information only when necessary, including:

- First and last name
- Telephone number or email address
- Messages submitted through the contact form
- Information relevant to accompaniment, if the individual chooses to share it

3. Use of Information

This information is used exclusively to:

- Respond to inquiries
- Provide follow-up support
- Organize the association's activities
- Communicate with volunteers and individuals connected to Beyt Mar Maroun
- No personal information is used for commercial or advertising purposes.

4. Confidentiality and Access

Information is accessible only to designated persons within the association who are trained in discretion and respectful listening.

No testimony or personal situation is shared publicly without the explicit consent of the individual concerned.

5. Data Protection

Data is stored securely, whether in physical or digital form, and retained only for the period necessary to provide accompaniment or follow-up.

6. Exceptional Circumstances

Confidentiality may only be lifted in serious situations involving danger to the individual or to others, in accordance with legal and moral obligations.

7. Respect for Individuals

Beyt Mar Maroun commits to:

- Protecting the dignity and privacy of every person
- Never exposing personal stories
- Promoting respectful and discreet communication

8. Contact
